"Enough is as good as a feast."

The true measure of Mr. Hoover's victory in Ohio is the amount of satisfaction his defeat would have given his opponents. You can't beat somebody with nobody.

Babe Ruth wastes a homer. Does this come under the head of coolidgeconomy?

Come, poets, sound your lusty pipes, And sing another lay, For Lindbergh all the headlines swipes, That bring us joy today. You'll need some rimes for snow and ice, For Canada, and serum, So get some sheets of paper nice, And in your frenzy smear 'em.

"Who o'er the herd would wish to reign, Fantastic, fickle, fierce, and vain." Secretary Hoover, who is included among those who would answer Scott's interrogation in the affirmative, hasn't been nominated yet by a long-sight, but the hornblowers obtain considerable heartening material in Ohio, and as for Massachusetts—"There she stands!"

Mr. Robert W. Stewart recovers one of our leading forgetteries. The House takes considerable Limburger out of the flood control bill but it still smells like something the cat brought in.

The net earnings on the common stock of General Motors indicate that the recent ruction in Wall street was based on something more definite than a vague suspicion.

The bread wagon drivers of the city will see to it that we don't get any if they can't have a little more of the dough.

What's delaying a relief expedition to dig out the Hoover manager who has been buried under the Curtis-Lowden landslide in Oklahoma? Every silver lining has a cloud.

Representative Ayres, of Kansas, will be voted for at the Houston convention as long as "he has a reasonable opportunity of receiving the nomination of the Democratic party for President," and Al's friends are afraid now that the Governor won't get it until the second ballot.

Under the terms of the flood control bill there would seem to be no valid reason why any householder should not be able to send his plumber's bill for fixing a leaky spigot to the United States Government.

Did Mr. Dempsey fear that in his 1926 fight with Mr. Tunney he would be "jobbed"—or jabbed?

It is disclosed that former Senator Lenroot was paid $20,000 for opposing the Walsh public utilities investigation and so far we have heard no complaints from his employer.

The Senate Finance committee cuts its tax-reduction coat in accordance with what is left of its cloth.

Gen. Sandino, the well-known personal pet of the United States Senate, kills an American civilian in Nicaragua. Nice doggie!

The reason why Lindbergh flew to Quebec with three white mice remains an impenetrable mystery. The New York reporters are usually keener than that in smelling a rat.

Pennsylvania elects 79 delegates to Secretary Mellon's vest pocket.

Henry A. Wallace says that a realignment of political forces in the United States is likely to be brought about in consequence of the thinking stimulated by the McNary-Haugen bill, but what makes him imagine there has been any?

The amount of thinking that went into the McNary-Haugen bill would probably pull a high school freshman through the first study period.

King George scores a bull's-eye with a 3-inch cannon. He isn't the marksman the late Charlie Edwards used to refer to when he said he couldn't hit a flock of balloons with a bass fiddle.

Senator Edwards asks Senator Heflin to be fair and tell the truth about Al. This world is full of optimists.

Just a moment, Mr. Good—wait until Mr. Hoover goes up against a live one in Indiana, before drowning a requiem with a spring song.

Wall street promotes General Motors to be Field Marshal.

Suppose the Willis ticket should win—what could Willis give 'em?

Porto Rico women are in Washington demanding the vote, but if they get it will they let us in on it?

HOOVER HOLDS OHIO LEAD AND WINS IN BAY STATE; SMITH DEMOCRATIC VICTOR

Secretary Runs Ahead by Vote of 3 to 1 in Buckeye Primary.

NEW YORKER'S NAME WRITTEN ON BALLOTS

Returns From Districts Indicate 31 Leading for Californian, 20 on Willis Slate.

Columbus, Ohio, April 24 (A.P.)—With returns on today's Presidential primaries still to come from more than half of the precincts in the State, 31 Hoover supporters and 20 candidates once pledged to the late Senator Frank B. Willis, were in the lead late tonight for places on the Ohio delegation of 51 to the Republican national convention.

All seven of the Hoover delegates-at-large were out ahead as were the candidates committed to the Commerce Secretary of 12 of the 22 districts in the State.

Returns from 3,589 precincts out of 8,559 showed the veteran Theodore E. Burton, of Cleveland, leading the field in the race for delegate-at-large with 57,945. Low man on the Hoover slate was E. W. B. Curry, a negro, who, with 53,436, was more than 12,000 votes ahead of Carmel A. Thompson, high among the Willis contenders.

The others on the Willis slate ranged down to Edward Vollrath, with 35,020.

Hoover Leads in Preference Vote. Although the Hoover candidates held their lead as returns rolled in except in one or two districts, leaders in the fight against the cabinet official expressed confidence that later reports, from rural sections would put a different light on the picture.

Secretary Hoover piled up a big lead in the Republican preferential balloting, the result of which, however, is not binding on delegates. Returns from 6,866 precincts gave him 148,076, Willis 58,775 and Olin J. Ross, Columbus 6,033. In these precincts 1937 Republicans had written in the name of Dawes and 1,343 Lowden's name.

Al Smith not only showed his heels to the field in the Democratic preferential voting but complete returns indicated one of his out-and-out supporters had broken the organization slate and qualified as a delegate to the Houston convention from the Columbus district.

Senator Fess Runs Second. No names were listed on the Democratic preferential ballot, but in 3,263 precincts, 10,828 voters wrote in Smith's name, 4,838 that of former Senator Fomerehe who organization delegates plan to support on the first ballot at Houston, 2,830 Gov. Donahay's and 157 the name of Senator Reid, of Missouri, who was born in Ohio.

Senator Fess, who will be convention keynoter at Kansas City, was running second among the Willis candidates for delegates at large, while both Walter F. Brown, Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Hoover strategist in Ohio, were in the lead.

Squatters' Heirs Sue For Land in Chicago

Chicago, April 24 (A.P.)—Heirs of "Capt." George Wellington Streeter, pioneer Chicagoan, who through squatters' rights claimed possession of Lake Michigan frontage now valued at $600,000, today made a new attempt to gain possession of the land situated along North Michigan avenue and now occupied by the Drake Hotel and other large buildings.

A suit was filed in United States District Court in behalf of Victor Streeter and other heirs, and named as defendants the Chicago Title & Trust Co. and others.

King Hits Bull's-Eye With 3-Inch Cannon

Lulworth, Dorset, England, April 24 (A.P.)—King George, known as one of the best shots in his kingdom with a sporting gun, proved that he is no novice at using heavier weapons today.

After watching a special demonstration of the new royal tank corps, of which he is colonel in chief, the king doffed his cold braided field marshal's cap, put on a black beret, climbed into the tank and then proceeded to hit the target twice with three-pounder shells.

Man Seriously Hurt When Struck by Car

Struck by a Washington Railway & Electric Co. street car at Four-and-a-Half and C streets southwest yesterday, George Griggs, 31 years old, 1325 Third St. at southwest, was knocked down and seriously injured. He is in Emergency Hospital suffering from a possibly fractured skull and severe lacerations of his face.

Political Results of a Day

(Associated Press.) Reports from more than half of the precincts in the Ohio primary showed the entire slate of Hoover delegates at large in the lead, with incomplete returns giving the Commerce Secretary 31 delegates to 20 delegates committed to Senator Frank B. Willis, now dead. Hoover led from the start on the preferential vote, the result of which is not binding, while incomplete returns showed that Democrats had written in the name of Gov. Smith more than that of any other presidential possibility. The Ohio Democratic delegation of 48 is pledged to support former Senator Alcee Pomerene at the outset at Houston.

In Massachusetts Hoover and Smith had commanding leads in the preferential voting under a new law which permitted the writing in of names. The result, as in Ohio, is not binding, and the Massachusetts delegations of 39 at Kansas City and 36 at Houston will be uninstructed. Hoover supporters, however, claim a majority, while Smith adherents predict the New York governor will have virtually the solid support of the Massachusetts Democratic delegation.

In the Pennsylvania primaries 79 Republican delegates and a Democratic delegation with 76 convention votes were selected. Both delegations are uninstructed.

In the Alaska Smith slate of six delegates had clear sailing, while the Republicans named two delegates from a field of five.

In the Oklahoma Republican convention a Lowden-Curtis coalition had the whip hand, indicating that the State's delegation of 20 at Kansas City would be ready to aid either of them in the convention.

A new favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination was put forward by the Kansas Democrats, who instructed their delegation of 20 to support at Houston Representative Ayres, the only Democrat in the Kansas congressional delegation.

Massachusetts Swept for Hoover and Smith

Regular Slates for Delegates of Both Parties Lead in Primary Vote.

BUTLER HEADING TICKET 66 FOR SMITH IS CLAIMED

Boston, April 24 (A.P.)—Sweeping majorities for Hoover on the Republican ticket and Smith on the Democratic ticket were shown in early returns of the presidential preference vote in the Massachusetts presidential primaries.

Returns from 856 precincts for presidential preference gave: Republican—Hoover, 60,098; Coolidge, 4,205; Dawes, 1,136; Fuller, 899; Lowden, 569.

Democratic—Smith, 16,609; Walsh, of Montana, 139; Reed, 36.

In some of the cities, including Boston, election officials announced that, because of the intricacies of the preferential balloting, in which voters were permitted to write in any name they chose, the count of these votes probably would be deferred until tomorrow.

The preferential balloting showed many freaks. Hoover's name was written on some Democratic ballots and Smith's name on some Republican ballots. Some of the other candidates were interchanged between the two parties.

Lindbergh received two votes among

Maj. Kennelly Sued For $250,000 by Girl

Special to The Washington Post. New York, April 24.—Maj. William Kennelly, president of the New York Athletic Club and wealthy realty broker, has been made defendant in a suit—presumably for breach of promise—for $250,000 damages by Miss Grace Robinson, who claims she is only 17. It was learned today.

Mystery surrounds the action. Ethel D. Arkin, attorney for Miss Robinson, admitted today the papers had been served. She and her husband, Assistant Corporation Counsel George O. Arkin, with whom she shares an office, declined to discuss the matter. Maj. Kennelly was equally noncommunicative.

That disposition was made Saturday after the acquittal of Harry F. Sinclair, who participated in the profits on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Government in the Teapot Dome lease. Stewart said he called his board of directors together, told them all the facts, withheld since the Continental deal six years ago, and they decided to turn over the entire amount—$759,500—to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co.

Stewart had set up a trust fund, with Roy J. Barnett, tax commissioner of the Standard of Indiana, as trustee, under which the profits were held jointly for the Indiana Standard and

$325,000,000 FLOOD CONTROL BILL VOTED IN HOUSE, 254 TO 90

Democrats Joined by 86 Republicans to Pass Mississippi Curb.

POSSIBILITY OF VETO COMPLICATES FIGHT

Some Concessions Win Support of Coolidge Leaders on Final Roll Call.

(Associated Press.) The Senate Jones bill proposing a plan for curbing the flood waters of the Mississippi River was passed by the House yesterday with President Coolidge's attitude toward it remaining problematical.

The vote was 254 to 90, one of the most overwhelming given by the House this session on any measure that precipitated such a protracted fight as that which marked this bill's legislative journey.

On the final showdown 86 Republicans, 167 Democrats and 1 Farmer-Labor joined in support of the bill, while 85 Republicans, 3 Democrats, 1 Farmer-Labor and a Socialist lined up in opposition.

The vote also found 24 more members supporting the bill than would be needed to override a presidential veto, but in the event of the measure receiving White House disapproval it would be doubtful if the measure again could muster this strength.

Fear Proposal Defeated. It was believed that an unsuccessful last-minute attempt by Representative Fear (Republican), Wisconsin, to substitute a compromise flood bill for the Senate measure more nearly indicated the line-up that would take place in the event of a veto. Fear was defeated by a vote of 206 to 139.

Among those supporting the bill on the final vote were Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee and Chairman Snell of the rules committee, two of the administration stalwarts who for ten days participated in negotiations to revise the bill to meet the President's objections.

The measure now must be returned to the Senate for that body to pass upon the numerous changes approved by the House. A number of these revisions were accepted by supporters of the bill in an effort to bring it in line with the views of the White House.

On other revisions desired by the President the measure's supporters refused to accede.

Federal Cost an Issue. It was admitted during debate yesterday that the crux of the difference between those supporting the bill and Mr. Coolidge hinged on the question of whether the States or the Federal Government should assume responsibility for damages that might be sustained by

1,000-Foot Nose Dive Sends Two to Death

Detroit, April 24 (A.P.)—Gordon A. Taylor, 25, of Taylor Aircraft Corp., and Rochester, N. Y., pilot, and Aaron Rosenblatt, of New York, a passenger, were killed this afternoon at the Ford airport when a plane Taylor was demonstrating went into a nose dive at an altitude of about 1,000 feet and crashed to the ground.

The accident, which occurred at 1:45 p. m., was witnessed by Gilbert Taylor, Gordon's brother and business partner, who was watching the flight from the field.

LINDBERGH, IN SNOWSTORM, TAKES SERUM TO BENNETT; BREMEN MAY FLY TODAY

Clearing Weather at Greenly Brings Hope of Dawn Hop-Off.

GERMAN FLIERS MAY PAY BENNETT VISIT

Train Is Put at Disposal of Teutons—Camera Men Tell of Repair Work.

(Special Dispatch to The Post.) Murray Bay, Quebec, April 24.—The marooned Germans, who expect to hop here tomorrow on the first lap of their triumphal entry into New York, tonight accepted the Canadian Transcontinental Railway's offer of a special train to take them to Floyd Bennett's bedside.

The special will speed from here to Quebec, where the Germans and Maj. James E. Fitzmaurice will visit Bennett, if the latter's condition will permit. It seemed likely tonight that the birdman's condition would be too grave to permit such a ceremony.

Good weather forecasted for Greenly Island tomorrow made it appear certain that Baron Gunther von Huenefeldt, Capt. Herman Koehl and the Irishman would hop at dawn.

If the Germans visit Bennett, they will return here immediately by train to resume their flight to New York in the repaired Bremen.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is expected to fly here tomorrow, to be here when the transatlantic trio arrives from Greenly. If the plan to visit Bennett by train goes through, Lindbergh undoubtedly will accompany the German- Irish air delegation to the bedside of the stricken flier.

Bremen Poised to Fly. Lake Ste. Agnes, Quebec, April 24.—(Canadian Press).—The German transatlantic monoplane Bremen, repaired and again considered airworthy, tonight was poised on the river ice off Greenly Island awaiting only favorable weather for the resumption of its flight to New York.

This information was brought to the Lake Ste. Agnes airport today by two fliers who made a nonstop hop from ice-locked Greenly Island with Paramount-Associated Press photographs. The fliers said the hop of the Bremen to Lake Ste. Agnes might be made tomorrow, or might be delayed until Thursday, the take-off depending entirely on favorable weather reports.

Although the two fliers, William Winston and Harry Cuthbertson, reported there was good weather at Greenly Island and for some distance along the north shore of the St. Lawrence, it was not clear.

Aviator, Cape Horn Bound, Is in Guaymas

Nogales, Ariz., April 24 (A.P.)—Jimmy Angel, Fresno, Calif., aviator, arrived at Empalme, Sonora, Mexico, today from Hermosillo on his flight to Cape Horn, South America. Empalme is the airport for Guaymas, where William Berl, photographer of the South American expedition, was awaiting Angel and his two companions.

Lillian Gish Wins $5,000,000 Film Suit

Los Angeles, April 24 (A.P.)—Lillian Gish, screen actress, won the $5,000,000 breach of contract suit brought against her by Charles Duell, producer, today.

A jury verdict for the defendant was returned when the court instructed that such a verdict be rendered on the grounds that all the issues of the case had been adjudicated previously in the Federal court in New York.

Nicaraguan Rebel General Kills American Mine Man

Captured British Subject Is Free—Marines Find Big Enemy Force, but Fear to Attack and Send for Reinforcements.

Managua, Nicaragua, April 24 (A.P.)—George Marshall, of New York, assistant manager of the La Luz y Los Angeles Mine, seized last week by Sandino and his followers, was reported to have been killed by the rebels in a radio-gram received today by Clifford D. Ham, collector general of customs, from W. J. Crampton, collector of customs at Puerto Cabezas.

Crampton reported that the La Luz Mine was robbed of $1,300 in cash and merchandise and live stock amounting to $8,700.

Gen. Jiron, a rebel chief, is now in immediate charge of the mine. With 150 men mounted on mules he arrived last week in the Pis Pis mining region from the direction of Matagalpa. Jiron is said to have received orders to cut off the American manager of the mine.

Harry P. Amphlett, who is now absent from the mine, having gone down the Prinzapolka River before the arrival of Sandino's men.

While near Matagalpa, Sandino is stated to have publicly made threats

MAN HURLS TEAR BOMBS BACK AT POLICE IN SIEGE

Shotgun and Squad's Own Grenades Hold Off Score While They Weep.

SHOTS AROUSE NEIGHBORS

Using the police department's own tear gas bombs and a 12-gauge repeating shotgun, James W. Kinsley, 43 years old, held off almost a score of policemen who were trying to drive him from his room on the third floor of No. 9 N street northwest last night.

The police, driven from the house by shots of buckshot as they ascended the stairway hurriedly called for the tear gas bombs to drive Kinsley to the street. When the bombs arrived, the policemen hurled several of them into Kinsley's room. All of them failed to explode.

A few moments later Kinsley appeared at the front window and threw one of the bombs at policemen in the street. It went off but rolled into the street.

Then Kinsley went to the back of the house and threw another bomb at policemen who were trying to enter. It also went off but the policemen retreated crying. Kinsley hurled the other bombs out of the front and rear windows but they failed to explode.

Kinsley after baffling the police who had sent in an order for fresh bombs finally called out that he was willing to surrender. He was sent to Gallinger Hospital for mental observation.

DASH TO AIR FIELD IN NEW YORK STREETS

Colonel Borrows Big Pistol as He Boards a Fast Army Airplane.

MACHINE'S 120-MILE MAXIMUM IS EXCEEDED

Arctic Aviator's Condition Brings Sudden Call for Special Treatment.

Quebec, Wednesday, April 25 (A.P.)—A bulletin issued at 1 a. m. today by Drs. Barach and Delancy, in attendance upon Floyd Bennett, American flier, stated that he was suffering from Type 3, known as the most virulent type of lobar pneumonia.

The bulletin added: "Unfortunately, the serums brought from New York by Col. Lindbergh do not cover it."

Quebec, Quebec, April 24 (Canadian Press).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, driving his fast Army plane through rain and snow, brought to the bedside of Floyd Bennett tonight a supply of life-saving antipneumonia serum in less than four hours after a take-off from New York.

Lindbergh landed on the Plains of Abraham at 6:30 p. m., completing his flight of more than 500 miles from Curtis Field, N. Y., in 33 hours and 42 minutes. He immediately jumped into a waiting automobile and rushed to Jeffrey Hale Hospital, where hospital officials reported Bennett hovering between life and death.

Bennett was stricken with pneumonia at Lake Ste. Agnes, Quebec, while en route with Bert Balchen in a Ford plane to the relief of the marooned crew of the German transatlantic monoplane Bremen. He was brought by airplane to Quebec and specialists were hurried from New York to his bedside.

Physicians attending Bennett today decided the special antipneumonia serum was necessary for the treatment of the patient and telephoned to New York a request that a supply be rushed. Told of the need, the first man to fly across the Atlantic to Paris immediately prepared for the start.

Start Is for Montreal. Accompanied by a representative of the Rockefeller Research Institute, he took off from Curtis Field, N. Y., at 3:08 p. m., in an Army plane that has a maximum speed of 150 miles an hour. Montreal was said to be his destination and a special train was prepared at that point to carry him to Quebec, a party of civic officials waiting at the air field to rush him to the train.

However, Lindbergh, apparently deciding that the emergency brooked no delay, drove his plane through rain and snow direct to Quebec. He flew most of the route over strange territory, encountering visibility so poor that he could have distinguished landmarks only with the greatest difficulty.

At the start from New York it was estimated that the Lone Eagle's probable speed for the hop would be 120 miles an hour. Observers here pointed out that he must have maintained a speed slightly greater than that and flew straight to his objective without deviation from his course.

Lindbergh declined to discuss the hop. His only comment was, "We had a very good flight."

Police reinforcements kept the thousands of excited Quebec residents from the field as Lindbergh brought his plane down. The crowd shouted itself hoarse when he crossed from the plane to the waiting automobile and America's "Lone Eagle" was acclaimed during the entire ride to the hospital where Bennett lies ill.

At the hospital Lindbergh was permitted to see Bennett for a few minutes. Later he went to his hotel, where he encountered another crowd.

A bulletin issued at 11:30 p. m. tonight by physicians attending Floyd Bennett at the Jeffrey Hale Hospital, said the flier's condition remained unchanged. He was resting after having taken a sedative. None of the serum, brought to Quebec by Col. Charles Lindbergh had been administered, the doctors' statement said, as it had not yet been determined just what type of pneumonia the patient was suffering from.

"Sure, Let's Go." Curtis Field, N. Y., April 24 (A.P.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today turned all his skill and courage as an aviator to the task of saving the life of another great flier, Floyd Bennett.

Physicians attending Bennett in Quebec, where the North Pole flier is seriously ill, decided today they must have antipneumonia serum, available only in New York, and Lindbergh was selected to rush the life-saving fluid to Canada through his familiar medium, the air.

"Sure, I'll take it." Lindbergh returned on page 4, column 4.

500 BAKERY DRIVERS DEMAND WAGE RAISE; THREATEN WALKOUT

Increase of $4.50 a Week Is Asked to Prevent Strike Next Tuesday.

EMPLOYEES CALL MEETING TO DETERMINE COURSE

Ultimatum Requires New Contract Be Signed by Monday Midnight.

A committee representing 500 bread wagon drivers, headed by Carl Heing, has handed the city's leading bakers an ultimatum threatening a general walkout Tuesday if a new contract, providing an increase in wages from $38 to $42.50 a week, is not signed by midnight Monday.

The employing bakers are willing to sign a contract with the $38 wage guarantee, they told the committee of drivers. But Union National Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local No. 33, think the offer is too low, and at their last meeting voted to strike if their $42.50 demand is not met.

Employers Are Undecided.

M. Holzeberlein, owner of the Holzeberlein Bakery, last night indicated the employers are not yet determined upon their course, although they have officially turned down the union's demands.

They will meet tonight in the Southern Building to discuss the matter, he said.

Bakers whose drivers are represented in the union include the Dorby Baking Co., the Continental Baking Co., Dorsch's, Schneider's, Holzeberlein, Holmes, Haveren's, the Rice Baking Co., the Connecticut Pie Co., the Liberty Pie Co. and the Sanitary Grocery Co.

Contract Expires April 30.

It was explained last night that in addition to the $38 guaranteed wages the drivers are paid every week, they are given a 10 per cent commission on all they sell over the amount which would bring this return.

The contract which expires the night of April 30 was made with that provision in 1926.

Although the drivers have voted unreservedly for a strike if their demands are not met, officials of the union said last night that a special meeting would undoubtedly be called before the end of the week, if an agreement is not reached by that time. They declared there is no likelihood that the local bakers' union might call a strike in sympathy.

Bends Stuns River Diver When Air Line Is Fouled

Caisson Disease Victim Drawn to Surface Unconscious After Signaling for Aid—Restored in Recompression Chamber—Condition Still Serious.

Johannes Rasmussen, 40 years old, of Ballston, Va., a civilian diver, yesterday fell victim to the diver's worst foe, caisson disease, more commonly known as "bends." While he was drilling into the channel rock 40 feet beneath the surface of the Lincoln Memorial Bridge his air line became pinched, and Rasmussen was without air for five minutes.

He signaled his aids at the surface and was drawn to the top, unconscious. E. J. Merrick, of the Navy Department, a passing motorist, took Rasmussen to Emergency Hospital, where Dr. Ed Grass and Dr. M. J. White administered oxygen for more than an hour.

The unconscious man was then taken to the navy yard, where he could be placed in a recompression chamber. The doctors continued the battle for his life until 5 o'clock, when he was taken to the hospital in a much improved condition.

When taken from the water Rasmussen was bleeding from the mouth and nose, and his body was black and blue from the pressure of the water.

Rasmussen, a civilian employee of the United States Navy Department, had been drilling rock at the bottom of the river. Shortly after noon his hose line became fouled and his air supply was cut off. The air also serves to protect the diver's body from the pressure of the water.

Had Fired Toy Pistols

While children played "cops and robbers" with toy cap pistols a short distance away, Charles F. Buscher, 48 years old, 1301 Jefferson street northwest, fought a desperate 5-minute battle for his life with two holdup men in his garage in the rear of his home last night. Buscher routed the robbers after one of them had fired three shots point blank at him. One bullet passed through Buscher's coat.

Buscher, who conducts a meat stand in Center Market, arrived at his garage about 7:30 o'clock. He alighted from his automobile and walked to the garage to open the doors. When he stepped inside the garage he was confronted by one of the robbers who turned an oath and pressed a revolver against Buscher's body. The man was more than 6 feet tall and weighed about 200 pounds. Buscher, who is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs about 180 pounds.

Grabbing for the revolver Buscher caught the holdup man's wrist. When the man pulled the revolver back, Buscher pressed against Buscher's body but in grabbing the man's wrist he had knocked it slightly to one side. The man, who was wearing a dark suit and a hat, then pulled the revolver back and fired a shot through his coat and knocked a button off his overcoat.

After fighting for five minutes Buscher pinned the man to the floor and began to pound at him with his fists. Then the other man struck Buscher behind the ear with a piece of iron pipe. Struck by the blow, Buscher released his hold and both men fled. Buscher staggered into his house, and after telling his wife what happened, telephoned for police.

Headquarters Detective E. E. Thompson and Thomas Nalley searched the neighborhood but were unable to find any one who had seen the robbers. Mrs. Buscher said her attention was not attracted by the shots because she believed they came from the toy pistols of children, who had been playing in the alley all afternoon.

Citizens Want New Job-Holding Inquiry

Reconsideration by the Federation of Citizens Associations of the protest against its delegates being in the employ of private interests and seeking to influence the federation on major propositions involving the public interest, was demanded last night at a meeting of the Trinidad Citizens Association, which originally filed the protest.

In a letter to the federation, the Trinidad Citizens Association requested that the federation delegates be given an opportunity to vote on the question without previous reference to a committee. The federation has recently reported by a committee, the proposition was coupled with another of much wider latitude.

Chairman's View Confirmed at Merger Hearing by Col. Harrison Brand.

CONSOLIDATED COMPANY COULD BUILD IT, HE ADDS

Should It Fail, Task Would Go to Another, He Explains. Grilled on Valuation.

The time is coming, perhaps in ten or twenty years, when Washington will need a subway to take care of its ever-growing traffic, Representative Gibson (Republican), of Vermont, declared yesterday at the hearing on the proposed traction merger here.

Col. Harrison Brand, Jr., vice chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, was on the stand at the time. He agreed with Gibson that a subway undoubtedly would be necessary when the population has reached the million mark.

Gibson sought to determine how much of a monopoly the proposed consolidated company would enjoy. Brand pointed out that, under the joint resolution authorizing the merger, the company would be entitled to "reasonable protection" against competition.

Questioned on Value.

In saying this, however, Brand made it clear that he was simply expressing his own opinion.

Representative George Combs (Democrat), of Missouri, broke in to ask Brand if the merged company would have a "perpetual franchise." Brand pointed out that Congress could repeal the resolution authorizing the merger at any time.

Representative Hammer (Democrat), of North Carolina, again questioned Brand about the clause in the agreement permitting the consolidated company a $500,000 valuation for ten years. Brand had previously declared that he thought this valuation was fair, and that the ten-year provision was fair.

Brand declared that the ten-year guarantee should be eliminated, and that the question of what valuation the company should enjoy should be turned over to the expert of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Nobody, said Hammer, should expect Congress to approve a $500,000 valuation for ten years, when the Public Utilities Commission admitted that such a valuation was nothing more than an estimate.

Explains His Qualifications.

When yesterday's session started Representative Zihlman (Republican), of New York, asked Brand to explain his qualifications as an engineer.

Brand said he was graduated from West Point and held a commission in the Corps of Engineers in 1914, serving as an engineer officer until 1919. For the next two years and a half, he said, he was a Federal civil engineer in New York.

He took a night course in business law and accounting, he said, and joined the New York City Police Department as an engineer in New York. While he was with them, he said, he investigated industrial projects for banking firms, and was planning to re-finance them.

Brand said he came to this city in 1921, and was appointed to the Public Utilities Commission in March, 1927. Representative Gibson questioned Brand at length on the valuation of the Capital Traction Company.

Brand said that he had valued this company at $26,000,000. He had fixed on this sum, he said, by using the actual value of 1914—approximately $15,000,000—as a base, and adding to it $11,000,000. This $11,000,000, he said, represented the increased cost of material and labor.

Appreciation in Value.

Gibson wanted to know if this $11,000,000 represented a "fictitious sum" or an actual outlay. Brand replied that while the amount had not actually been spent, it represented an appreciation in the value of the property.

In response to a question by Gibson, Brand said that the valuation of the cost of traffic policemen and paving from the traction companies to the city would shift a burden of about $300,000 onto the taxpayers. A very strong effort would be made to get the people to assume this burden.

The transfer of this burden to the people, Brand undoubtedly lessened the likelihood of a raise in the rate of fare. But the real reason he favored relieving the traction interest of this cost, he said, was that he did not think they had any right to pay them.

Local Bills Coming Up.

As for other benefits that would accrue to the people as a result of the merger, he said, the transfers that now cost 1 cent would be free, and other transfers that now cost two fares could travel just as far for one fare.

Chairman Zihlman announced that the next hearing would not be held until tomorrow morning. This morning the House District Committee will hold its regular weekly meeting to consider local bills.

Porto Rican Women Here to Demand Vote

Representatives of Porto Rican suffrage societies today will make an appeal to Congress for votes for Porto Rican women, as provided in bills pending in Congress. Dr. Maria Robert, of San Juan, secretary of the Liga Social Suffragista of Porto Rica, and Miss Rosa Emanuel have been sent to Washington to present the case, and to urge immediate action.

They will appear at a hearing this morning before the Senate committee on territories and insular affairs, on a bill sponsored by Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, chairman of the committee, amending the organic act of Porto Rica to the effect that the right to vote shall not be denied or abridged on account of sex. A similar bill has been introduced in the House by Representative Edgar R. Kless, of Pennsylvania.

GRAVELLY POINT GAINS FAVOR AS CITY AIRPORT

Lampert Committee Is Likely to Approve Stalker Bill Favoring It, Report.

The Stalker bill to establish Washington's municipal airport at Gravelly Point will be approved by the Lampert subcommittee of the House District committee, according to indications at a second hearing on the question last night. While members of the subcommittee would not commit themselves in advance, it was indicated that they favored the Stalker bill over the Gasque bill. The latter measure provides for an airport on the Benning site. Another hearing will be held tonight.

Five witnesses appeared before the subcommittee last night, and each one endorsed the Gravelly Point site. They favored it because of its proximity to the heart of the city, its advantages to the fleet and because it could take care not only of airplanes, but seaplanes and lighter-than-air ships.

Henry Berliner, who became a flying enthusiast when he built a glider as a boy, and who now is head of the Potomac Flying Service, told the subcommittee that Gravelly Point was the only logical site for a large and permanent airport.

In response to a question by Representative Gibson (Republican), of Vermont, Berliner said that his planes would carry approximately 20,000 passengers on aerial sightseeing trips over Washington in 1928. Last year, he said, the number was 20,000. During last Easter week alone, he said, his planes took up 2,000 passengers.

Edwin A. Schmitt, Federal engineer who is engaged in dredging and otherwise improving the Potomac River, said the proposed site at Gravelly Point now was covered by 2 or 3 feet of water. He said it would be a simple task to fill the area in with river refuse and city refuse, such as Potomac Park and Columbia Island were reclaimed.

Others who were called as witnesses by Allan M. Smythe, of the special airport committee of the National Aero-nautics Association, were Jerome E. Williams, chairman of the airport committee of the Board of Trade; Jerome Fancullin, chairman of the airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce; and Maj. Carey Brown, engineer officer of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and one of the strongest Gravelly Pointers.

Representative Gasque (Democrat), of South Carolina, questioned several witnesses in an effort to show that it would be wiser to establish a temporary airport at Benning while a permanent one being established at Gravelly Point.

Citizens Ask Better Side-Street Lighting

Better lighting in side streets in their territory was asked in a resolution adopted by the Iowa-Thomas Circle Citizens Association at its meeting last night in the Northminster Presbyterian Church. Lack of adequate lighting was declared to be an incentive for crime and conducive to accidents.

The association resolved itself into a debating society and debated on the subject of suffrage for the District. No action on suffrage was taken by the association. President Ella M. Thompson appointed E. Bradstreet, Miss Florence Graves and Miss Lillian Reed as members of the nominating committee to prepare nominations to be submitted at the next meeting.

Workmen's Measure Is Sent to House, Compromise Breaking Deadlock.

RESOLUTION TO CLOSE MARKET ALSO ADOPTED

Bill for City Heads to Settle Debts Up to $3,000 and Other Measures Passed.

The Senate passed the Blaine-Underhill workmen's compensation bill yesterday, and sent it to the House. For seven years efforts have been made to enact a law for the District, providing for the compulsory compensation of injured employees by their employers, but yesterday marked the first time that such a measure had made any real legislative progress. Always before there had been a deadlock between the employees and the employers, a deadlock broken by the compromise bill introduced by Senator Blaine (Republican), of Wisconsin.

The Senate yesterday also passed six other bills and a joint resolution affecting the District. They were as follows:

A bill authorizing the District Commissioners to settle claims and suits outside of court. In passing it, the Senate specified that the settlement can be made only when the amount involved is $3,000 or under. The bill now goes to the House.

Market Resolution Adopted.

The Smoot joint resolution directing the Secretary of Agriculture to give notice that Center Market shall be closed after January 1 next, in order to make way for the new Department of Justice building. The resolution now goes to the House.

Senate Resolution (Republican), of Utah, author of the resolution, has said that the market will be kept open for several years after January 1, explaining that the resolution simply is designed to give notice that it eventually will be closed. The resolution now goes to the House.

The Keyes-Elliott bill regulating the use of the Capitol grounds. The bill is designed to prevent the exploitation of the Capitol grounds by publicity-seeking individuals or organizations. It already had passed the House, and now goes to the White House for the President's signature.

A bill authorizing the opening of the grave of Nellie Richards in Congressional Cemetery so that her sister, Gertrude Richards, may be buried in the same plot. Congressional authority was needed because the woman died of a contagious disease. The bill now goes to the President.

Cemetery Bill Sent to House.

The Capper bill authorizing the transfer of bodies from a cemetery in front of the St. Francis de Sales Church so that the District may take over the property for school purposes. The bill now goes to the House.

The Copeland bill authorizing the expenditure of $1,000 for the preparation of plans for a hospital at the Home for the Aged and Infirm at Blue Plains, District of Columbia. It now goes to the House.

A bill authorizing the District Commissioners to vacate a portion of the alley between lots 16 and 17 in square 1083 and to turn the property over to the owners of adjoining property.

CHILDREN CUT TREES, STEUART NAMED HEAD OF STATISTIC SOCIETY

Southeast Association Calls on Parents to Stop Hacking During Games. Commerce Officials Present Papers on Employment in United States.

Score of trees in the Southeast section and probably hundreds in other communities throughout the city are being mutilated and ruined by "playful" children. John C. L. Ritter declared last night at a meeting of the Southeast Washington Citizens Association in the Southeast Public Library. The association adopted a suggestion of Mr. Ritter, calling upon civic associations and school officials to instruct children against hacking trees.

Mr. Ritter declared that he frequently noticed children in the course of playing "hounds and foxes" hack trees with hatchets to indicate the route of their hiding place, which is a part of the game. He urged that the players be instructed by school teachers, parents, newspapers and other way against this practice.

The association voted to write a "special letter to the District Commissioners" urging the immediate paving of D street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets southeast, after listening to a talk by J. V. Schmitt. Mr. Ritter declared that the "rocky road to Dublin" was as smooth as glass, compared to D street in front of Mr. Schmitt's home.

NEW "REBEL" DRIVE OPENS AS MEXICANS MOURN ARCHBISHOP

Dead Prelate's Cathedral
Closed, Long Services Are Held in Church.

WOMEN LEAD NINE-DAY
PERIOD OF GRIEVING

Funeral of Mora y del Rio
Is Marked by a Bitter
Attack on Calles.

Mexico City, April 24 (A.P.).—Catholics in Mexico have begun a nine-day period of mourning for Archbishop Mora y del Rio, who, exiled from Mexico, died in San Antonio, Tex., and was buried here today. Lay services will be held twice daily, as the churches are without priests. The Catholic Women's League had charge of the arrangements.

At the moment of the burial at San Antonio, services for the dead were being conducted in the Church of La Profesa, in the heart of the business section of Mexico City. The church was crowded with kneeling, praying men and women.

Meanwhile the great Mexico City Cathedral, where Archbishop Mora y del Rio almost two years ago performed for the last time publicly in a church in Mexico the rites of his office, remained closed, as it has been since 1926.

Long streamers of crepe were draped around the altar in the Church of La Profesa, before which was placed a black catafalque. Upon this rested the pallium, mitre and crozier of the archbishop's office, with candles burning.

The Woman's League tonight arranged to send to San Antonio some soil from Mexico City churchyards. This will be placed on the grave of the archbishop in order that his last resting place may be under earth of his beloved native country.

Renewed activities of insurgents, called by the government "Catholic rebels," have led the war department to order additional troops to the state of Michoacan and Guerrero.

Dispatches also report a recrudescence of fighting in Durango. Besides this there was the battle Sunday night at Cuernavaca in the state of Jalisco.

Priest Declared Killed.

The war department said it had official confirmation of its charge that one of the insurgent leaders killed at Cuernavaca was the Priest Aristeo Pedraza. He is alleged by the government to have been one of the field leaders of the insurgents and has been reported dead on several previous occasions, but each time it was found that the body of some other insurgent had been mistaken for that of the priest.

The fighting in Durango had been scattered with no less than five different attacks upon small towns and railroad stations reported in newspaper dispatches.

Compared to Nero.

San Antonio, Tex., April 24 (A.P.).—Archbishop Arthur J. Drossaerts, of San Antonio, denounced the Mexican government today in his funeral oration over the body of Archbishop Mora y del Rio, exiled head of the Mexican Catholic Church, who died here Sunday.

Archbishop Drossaerts compared the scene in San Fernando Cathedral, where requiem high mass for the dead leader was sung, to the scene at Calvary and the Calles government to Pontius Pilate and to Nero.

"The day will come," he predicted, his voice trembling, "when stricken Mexico will enjoy its resurrection from this day. The martyrdom of its highest religious leader will hasten that day."

"It was the same when Nero burned Rome and attributed his crime to the Christians. Calles has said that there is no religious persecution in Mexico. That is true. The bishops have been exiled, the priests shot down like mad dogs in the street. All religion has been already stamped under the iron heel of tyranny. Bishop Mora was a meek, a lowly man. It is ridiculous to charge that rebellion ever lived in his heart."

"Was he exiled?" There is plenty of room in Mexico for the drunkard and the gambler. Why was there no room for this good man?"

contact with a force of 500 rebels, thought to be under direct command of Augustino Sandino and to be the same band as that which robbed the Bonanza and La Luz mines.

Due to the overwhelming force of the rebels, no attempt was made to give battle, but reinforcements were requested and additional Marines were en route.

The rebels are said to have been augmented by a large number of laborers who were recently discharged from employment at Brangan's Bluff, near Puerto Cabezas.

New York April 24 (A.P.).—Harry Amplett, British superintendent of the La Luz mine in Nicaragua, which was seized by the Sandino rebel forces, was released or escaped and reached Puerto Cabezas on the coast in safety.

Mr. Fletcher, who is a brother of Henry P. Fletcher, ambassador to Haiti, said he had received information that Amplett reached the coast yesterday.

The information contained in the wireless message from the Standard Fruit and Steamship Co., business associates of Fletcher, who maintain a private wireless station at Puerto Cabezas, the message contained no details beyond the fact of the superintendent's arrival.

Bonanza Mine Seized.

Philadelphia, April 24 (A.P.).—A telegram stating that rebel troops of Nicaragua had seized the mine of the Bonanza Mines Corporation was made public today by Benjamin C. Warnick, president of the company. The telegram was dated yesterday from his agent at Bluefields.

New Country Well.

George Marshall, Amplett's assistant, who was reported in advance to Managua to have been killed by the rebels, was unaware that Sandino was in striking distance of the mine.

This was shown in a letter he sent ten days ago, just before the raid, to his mother, Mrs. H. M. Marshall, of the Bronx, a public school teacher.

"My son had absolutely no idea Sandino was anywhere near the mine," she said. "He told me in his letter that he and his companions kept in touch with the liberal leader's movements only through the American newspapers they received many weeks after publication."

Marshall was 48 years old and had been in Mexico and Central America for 20 years. His mother said he knew the country and people as few foreigners do and always made it his policy to avoid taking sides in political matters.

Warnick, who himself was captured by Nicaraguan guerrillas last September and freed for $500, said the telegram gave only meagre details of the raiding. He believed that the superintendent, George A. Napoleon, of Columbus, Calif., head chemist, A. H. Head, of Denver, Colo., and Franklin Springer, storekeeper, son of the agent, are being held for ransom.

The mine is about 150 miles west of Puerto Cabezas, in a mountainous region.

No Information Here.

Marine Corps headquarters here has received no official confirmation concerning reported change of position of the insurgent Gen. Sandino's forces in Nicaragua and reports that Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, corps commander, had conferred regarding latest developments with the 8th Department yesterday were denied.

Borah Halts Action on U. S. Policy in Nicaragua

(Associated Press.)

The Senate row over the administration policy in Nicaragua failed to come to a head yesterday, due to Senator Borah's discovery that the pending anti-intervention rider to the naval appropriation bill might tread on the toes of treaty obligations with respect to China, Haiti, Cuba and Panama.

At Borah's request the naval bill went over until tomorrow to permit him to study this question as chairman of the foreign relations committee.

The Blaine rider had been changed previously with its author's assent to forbid expenditures under the naval bill for any intervention purpose after February 1, which would permit holding of the Nicaraguan election under Marine Corps supervision.

Blaine accepted the Pittman amendment in protecting Americans and their property from physical attack without specific assent of Congress. Senator Borah's intervention from the treaty angle brought up an entirely new question in the debate, however, which may influence the final outcome in the Senate.

Caracas, Venezuela, April 24 (A.P.).—A special presidential message to Congress today requests an amendment to the constitution providing for the elimination of the office of vice president, now held by Gen. Jose Vicente Gomez, son of the president.

It is explained in the message that the motive of this step is to refute "malevolent propaganda" of an intention to impose his son as his successor to the presidency. The president wishes to make clear that the presidential term ending next year is not to be changed.

The automobile corporation showed a substantial gain from its net income of the first quarter last year, $52,551,408, while its steel-making contemporary fell well behind its last year's figure of $30,924,338. General Motors' income was equivalent to $3.86 a share on the common stock, compared with $2.90 a share last year, while United States Steel's earnings per share amounted to $2.11, compared with $3.93 in the first quarter of 1927.

Houston County, Ala., reported $200,000 destruction alone.

Few railways in the affected territory have been able to maintain service, and it was estimated that half the railways in southwestern Georgia were out.

Dothan, Ala., April 24 (A.P.).—Near Whatley a tornado destroyed several houses including that of Hass David, a negro, killing three members of his family and leaving him pinned beneath the wreckage. Dothan and Madrid were isolated by rail and highway by a result of swollen waters washing out highways and damaging tracks.

Reports from Columbia, on the Chattahoochee River said that the flood damage there was heavy from a cloud-burst.

Regular quarterly dividends of $1.75 each were declared by Steel Corporation directors on the common and preferred stocks. Distribution on the common will be made June 29, to holders of record May 31, and payment on the preferred will be made May 29 to stock of record April 30.

Dividend action on General Motors stocks is not due at this time.

Jones Steel Dividend.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 24 (A.P.).—The board of directors of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation declared a dividend of 1½ per cent on the common stock, payable June 1 to holders of record May 15.

Total earnings of $4,325,204, and net income of $2,903,457 after depreciation, depletion and interest were reported for the first quarter of the year ending March 31. A total of $1,162,251 was carried to surplus after dividends were deducted.

Cash Register Earnings.

Dayton, Ohio, April 24 (A.P.).—Net earnings of the National Cash Register Co. for the first quarter of this year were the largest for any first quarter in the company's history, according to a report submitted to a directors' meeting here today. For 1928, first quarter, the amount is $1,487,051.11, as compared with $1,354,449.97 in 1927 during the same period. Frederick B. Patterson was reelected president and chairman of the board at today's meeting.

3 ARE KILLED IN TORNADO

Atlanta, Ga., April 24 (A.P.).—With the inhabitants of Newton, Baker County, Ga., fleeing before a feared inundation from the swollen Flint River and with general flood warnings issued for the lower reaches of the Ocmulgee and Ocmulgee rivers, the flood palladium flared sharply back to Georgia today. No town was expected to be deserted by tonight.

Meanwhile in southern Alabama and northwest Florida acute conditions still prevailed along the course of a dozen streams which have shorter courses to the sea than the Georgia rivers. After inundating Brewton and other communities the freshest floods were receding in the upper valleys with the great moving swiftly toward new towns.

Several towns lie along the course of the Ocmulgee, south of Macon, where it reached 2 feet above flood stage today. Likewise there are large communities along the banks of the Ocmulgee River, which had wreaked great damage in its upper course and was roaring along its narrow course to join the Ocmulgee near Lumber City, Ga.

With virtually every inhabitant removed, the Town of Carryville, Fla., was going under deeper water as the Choctawhatchee River, sluggish and tortuous, received the rain water from above.

SOUP KITCHENS OPENED

Athens, April 24 (A.P.).—The Isthmus of Corinth, where 30 persons have been killed by earth shocks, was shaken today by even more severe tremors, increasing the terror of the inhabitants but adding little to the desolation of the stricken city of Corinth.

The situation of the 16,000 homeless and destitute is described as desperate, and receipts for their relief are inadequate despite a fairly generous response to the appeal of President Coundouriotis.

Many of the destitute are being sheltered in military huts or tents and aboard ships sent from the Piraeus. Soup kitchens, operated by women workers, were opened today.

It was impossible to make even an approximate estimate of the damage or losses to banks holding mortgages in Corinth and other shattered districts.

The damage to ancient Corinth, which is about three miles from the present city, and to the museum there, was relatively small.

London, April 24 (A.P.).—An exchange telegraph dispatch from Constantinople states that another violent earthquake occurred today at Smyrna. Considerable damage was done and the panic of the population was renewed.

Avon Bard or Tunney
Wrong, Says Rogers

Special to The Washington Post.

Chicago, Ill., April 24.—Gene Tunney just lectured before Yale's class on Shakespeare. He said he read Shakespeare ten times before he could get what he meant. Now that brings up the question, is there something wrong with Shakespeare or with Gene? If everybody has to read his stuff ten times, why Shakespeare is not the author he is cracked up to be. But if somebody else can read him and get him the first time, why Tunney is not the highbrow that he is cracked up to be.

So read my stuff at least ten times and if you can't get it, why you are neither a Shakespeare nor a Tunney. Yours for simpler authors and harder hitting fighters.

COAL SUMMER SCHEDULE

Because there was no reduction two years ago some people don't realize that the old-time custom has been restored.

For many years it was the custom for coal dealers (and producers too, of course) to reduce the price of Anthracite coal on April 1.

Two years ago there was no reduction and, as a result, a lot of people delayed putting in their winter's supply of Anthracite until the fall.

This year dealers and producers are following the old practice. There is every incentive now for you to put your coal in early. The earlier you buy, the lower the cost of your coal.

The price of Anthracite right now is the lowest it will be until next year. It will rise gradually until fall, when winter prices will prevail.

By buying now you not only save money but you get your coal in better condition. Summer coal is always better than winter coal because it comes to you in the same fine condition it leaves the mines, undamaged by snow and ice.

Retail Anthracite yards can deliver coal better and cleaner in summer, unhampered by bad weather.

Order your coal today and be independent of winter transportation troubles.

MISS VERA STANFORD is being shown how gleaming white teeth are when film is gone—is being told to use at home the film-renewing dentifrice called Pepsodent.

To Whiten Teeth free them of dingy film

Thus protect them against many serious tooth and gum troubles

Send for 10-day free test

WINNING smiles are not wholly a matter of luck. Or dazzling white teeth possessed only by the few. Both come from a new way of cleansing teeth that brings results which will amaze you.

With correct care you can give teeth dazzling whiteness, and your gums the healthy coral tint you envy.

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film, a viscid coat that covers them. That film is an enemy to your teeth—and your gums. You must remove it.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy, "off-color" look that you dislike.

Germ by the millions breed in it and lay your teeth open to decay. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and gum disorders.

Ordinary brushing fails in successfully combating film. That's why, regardless of care, teeth remain dull, unattractive.

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has provided effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it. Pepsodent also firms the gums.

Thus the world has turned, largely on dental advice, to this new method.

What you see when that film is removed—the whiteness of your teeth—will amaze you. Mail the coupon. A ten-day tube will be sent you free.

A string orchestra played as the guests were assembling and during the ceremony and for the reception which followed.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, wearing a gown of ivory satin fashioned with a tight bodice and a long full skirt. The yoke was of chauntilly lace and a deep flounce of the same lace finished the skirt. The veil of duchess lace was arranged softly about the face with orange blossoms and formed a train over the satin. She carried a shower bouquet of roses, orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. William L. Hart, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and wore a gown of Alencon lace, a French nude shade, with a large hat to match, and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Lieut. Samuel Walter DuBois was the best man, and the groomsmen, all on duty at the Naval Academy, formed an arch of swords after the ceremony, under which Lieut. and Mrs. Fletcher passed.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counselor.

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address: Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

The Forgotten Ones.

EVERY newspaper writer, church, school and social agency, from a Kiwanian Club to a child welfare league, has been requested to write, speak or pray on "health day," which comes on the first Sunday of May. I'll speak my little piece the week before. The well ones can read it and give help. The sick ones can listen in and help themselves. I'm going to preach to the never-licked.

During the World War I saw 110,000 disabled men, and my experience in the United States Bureau of Rehabilitation, my inspection of hospitals for disabled and handicapped heroes, my lifelong interest in institutional care for the deaf, dumb, blind, epileptic, insane and criminal people have shown me the tremendous possibilities for rehabilitation of the body when the spirit and mind have been reborn.

Think of the way Christopher Mathewson, the most noted baseball pitcher, struck it out. Afflicted with tuberculosis, but few knew it. Laying off for a while to recuperate and going back to winning games.

Think of Trudeau, a physician stricken with tuberculosis, who had only a few months to live, going to the Adirondack Mountains and founding a great open-air sanatorium and establishing a form of treatment which has been copied the world over, and living for years afterward.

How about the blind Milton? How about deafened Beethoven? How about crippled Elizabeth Barrett Browning? How many people know that Barrie, who wrote a most extraordinary play, "Mary Rose," with his left hand crippled from an attack of neuritis? How about the little Roosevelt—who would have suspected that he was once a sickly child?

Havelock Ellis, in a book called "A Study of British Genius," tried to find out the characteristics necessary for development of genius in a child. His investigation led him to come to the conclusion that the child or youngest child of a large family seemed to have the greatest opportunity for success. Furthermore, the child seems to have a tendency for children who develop genius to be of feeble health, or otherwise disabled, during the period of physical development.

I have been reading "Fighting Fate," by Dr. J. Arthur Meyer, in which are assembled life stories of men and women who won success in spite of being afflicted with tuberculosis. Did you know that this list includes Harold Bell Wright, Roger W. Babson, Albert Edward Wiggan, Cecil John Rhodes, the empire builder, Sidney Lanier, that delightful Southern poet, St. Francis of Assisi, founder of a great religious order, Artemus Ward, Will Truitt, the gene O'Neill, the dramatist at whom we marvel, and Fedor Dostoevsky, the Russian author over whom we shiver? This is not a health column, I am not a degreed doctor of science. But I am decreed by fate to be a doctor of human adjustments. Physically sick must turn elsewhere. There are many, however, who are in need of mental or vocational help. It is these I would serve. Rehabilitation of the hard of hearing, those partially blind, those physically handicapped through lack of muscular or nerve control, those who stutter, those who need information regarding organizations which, if they only knew it, exist to help them.

The never-licked have a vital spark burning within them. What can this service column do to fan it into a roaring flame?

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER.
Seen, Not Heard.
Is the old expression, "children should be seen and not heard" correct?

TEACHER.
Answer—This old curio should be gently buried with the errors of other days. Beyond the courtesy due to each talker a child should be allowed fullest expression. That is the road to development.

A Strong Hint.
Please write to the teacher telling them not to harp on a pupil's age too much. A great many teachers are forever telling their pupils that they are too old for school and should be out. I know this to be a fact, as my youngest brother and some of his friends are slightly older than the average pupil, due to sickness, travel and change of schools, and they get it often.

It is very discouraging to the boys and girls—would it be possible for you to give the teachers a hint?

FROM A GIRL.

Answer—It is nobody's business why a big boy or an older boy is in school. The teacher is there to teach and not to ridicule. It is hard enough for those in the awkward age without teacher adding to the burden.

BEAUTY AND YOU

By VIOLA PARIS

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

DEAR Viola Paris: My eyebrows grow on the bridge of my nose and for several months now I have been plucking them. They are becoming quite coarse and much more noticeable. Could you tell me what I should do about it?

I have a large mole on my neck and when I wear an evening dress it shows. Please tell me how to get rid of the mole.

Answer: I advise you not to pull another hair from your brows, for, as you have found out, this has probably been encouraging the growth. Bleaching the hair over the bridge of the nose will render it light and less noticeable. Sponging on a mixture of equal parts of hydrogen peroxide, fresh lemon juice and spirits of ammonia with absorbent cotton and allow this to dry. The application may be made once a day, and the solution is entirely harmless. The only safe way of permanently removing superfluous hair that I can recommend is electrolysis. No scars should result from the process. Beware of the cheap operators who claim that your operator is experienced and conscientious. This is doubly important in your case where the operator is so close to the eye nerves, and I would suggest that you ask your physician's advice first of all.

I am sure that you are more conscious of your mole than I warrant. In Oriental countries, a mole is often considered a feature of beauty. If you really think it necessary to your beauty and peace of mind, you may in this case also resort to electrolysis done by an expert operator.

Brown Eyes: The answer to your question about unruly eyebrows is given above. Your weight seems normal enough. Much depends upon the size of one's bones in estimating weights.

"Kay," too, says, "The main reason I am not beautiful is that my eyebrows extend too far down my nose." Since the bleaching method does not satisfy her and since she wisely scorns the "unnatural effect" of plucking, her last resort is the electric needle. She had best consult her physician about a reliable electrolysis.

"Needles," I feel sure that bleaching with the solution advised for "Babe" will render the hair behind your cheeks and on your ears less noticeable. You mention using cream as a powder-base to hide the hair; be sure that any cream you put on your face is very light and grassless, for heavy, oily ones, if you already have a tendency toward superfluous hair, might encourage the growth. I think a liquid powder-base would be better for you.

Bad circulation generally causes red ness, and the wrong diet causes bad circulation. Too heavy meats, starchy and fatty foods, heavy meats—all these should be avoided. Exercises of any sort help to keep the blood flow normal. Nightly massaging of the nose and cheeks with a good cream to spread the blood supply is a local remedy. And a powder that blends with the skin, neither too white or too pink, is a means of camouflage. Care of the diet, exercise and massage should also help to keep the skin of your cheeks in good condition.

"Sensitive" and Miss Mary S. will find their answers in the general information above.

Dainty Frock

Special occasions demand special frocks, of course, whether one is 2 or 20. A frock that is dainty enough for any party is this of georgette crepe or dotted Swiss, cut in several sections, gathered, and joined together. There may be a short full over the shoulders, a little puffed sleeve. Sizes 2 to 10 years.

Ways of Savage Tribes

VIII. BLACKFELLOWS AT WAR.

THE natives of Australia are often called "Blackfellows," because of their dark skins. Before the whites came to the Continent, it seems they had never used or seen bow-and-arrow. Their weapons were chiefly spears and boomerangs.

ward, then upward, then backward. Unless it strikes something on its path it will return to within a few feet of the thrower.

Such boomerangs are used by Australians to kill small game, such as birds. Clever hunters are able to bring down low-flying ducks.

Larger boomerangs are also used to cripple or kill kangaroos or in warfare. When two tribes have a quarrel, women and children as well as men march to a grassy space. Three men from each side start the battle. They carry long, wooden swords and stout shields. A sword whangs down upon a shield, the blow is returned. In a few minutes, all the rest of those present get into the fray. Boomerangs and spears fly.

Where a woman runs in and holds a stick over him, crying, "Do not kill!"

The combat seldom lasts more than an hour. Strange to say, very few persons are badly hurt. Sometimes there is no more damage than a broken arm. When it is seen that one of the warriors is badly hurt, the battle stops.

The Blackfellows are not "civilized," but in such almost bloodless battles I think they show more sense than the whites who kill hundreds of thousands of men in their wars.

Except for the blowgun, the boomerang is probably the most interesting savage weapon. It is a bent stick which will tend to come back to the man who throws it.

A common form of the boomerang is two feet long, two or three inches wide and less than an inch thick. The curves it makes differ with the way it is hurled, but with its flat, side "level" with the earth, it will go forward.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

SICKNESS SERIOUS—MENACE TO PROGRESS.

HIGH-SCHOOL students are much healthier than grammar-school students. Nevertheless, sickness is a serious menace to their progress. A study made of 1,487 students in the seventh to the twelfth grades in Oakland, Calif., shows that sickness is a serious school problem. The study lasted one and a half years.

Those who made the study found that 60 per cent of all absenteeism was due to sickness. The total number of school days lost, figured for the whole number of students and the entire period of study, was 21,391. Of these, 13,064 were lost as a result of some kind of illness.

There were days when the absentee rate was higher than 8 per cent. This would mean 4 were absent from each 50-pupil room. Many teachers of grade pupils would not regard this as excessively high. There have been seasons when the absenteeism in their schools averaged much higher than 4 to the room. They will agree that sickness is less important in older children.

The sickness absentee rate was higher among girls than among boys in the grades above the seventh. Whatever it was that caused the higher rate among girls was not operative in the lower grades.

The average absentee rate among all the pupils during all the time was 5.43 per cent, as compared with an average in the United States Army of 3.37 per cent. These experiences would indicate that the man who runs a store, a factory or a printing plant, and who employs 100 people, can expect to lose 5 of them to be absent on any given day. The business man who does not figure that in is likely to be misled. He would not dare overlook a 5 per cent loss in his men or transactions, his coal bill, light bill or any other item of expense.

Scarlet fever, measles and other forms of major communicable disease are of trifling importance among high school pupils. This entire group of disorders increased until October, then fell, rose to high in April, and then fell to stay down through the summer.

LIVING NEAR CANCER.

Mrs. F. B. writes: 1. Is there any danger in occupying the same home with an elderly person who has cancer? There is a 3-year-old child in the family.

2. Are there any special precautions that should be taken?

3. Is there any danger in the air?

REPLY.

1. There is not.

2. Cleanliness is all that is necessary.

3. No.

DIET FOR GALL STONE.

Mrs. C. writes: Will you kindly write an article on stones in the gall bladder, diet for gall bladder trouble, and treatment for stones in the gall bladder?

Is it ever possible to pass stones from the gall bladder? Could the stones break up and pass as gravel from the gall bladder?

Would such a passage, if possible, account for cessation of pain? The pain was diagnosed, for a time, as nervous indigestion.

REPLY.

Dieting is of great service in the prevention of gall stones. Eat very little fat or grease of any kind. This applies to both animal and vegetable fats. The diet should be a limited amount of lean meat and other proteins.

Eat a very light supper, or none. If you indulge in an evening meal, eat some vegetable or salad without oil and a carbonated, faintly alkaline water.

The presence of stones is one thing; pain from stones is another. Most people who have gall stones have no pain. After stones have caused pain for months they may cease doing so. This is principally because they increase in size and become fixed in one place.

Gravel can pass. Gall stone colic is caused by the passage of gravel. Gall stones cannot break up and pass as gravel.

HALITOSIS.

D. D. writes: I have halitosis. I believe that it is a condition arising from the stomach, for my tongue is pimply and coated. Is this condition curable? Could you suggest a remedy?

REPLY.

Assuming your trouble is not due to tonsils, nose, or teeth, all you need to do is to change your diet. Live largely on sour milk preparations, with vegetables, fruits and bread as side lines. If you use lactose you can get on with less sour milk.

Not an easy cure, but worth while. The only cures that are easy are those that are taken in "one time and one motion," as the drill masters say.

CHILD EATS RAW POTATOES.

Mrs. L. L. writes: I have a little boy, going on 3 years old, who just loves to eat raw potatoes. Do you think it will harm him any? He enjoys them more than apples.

REPLY.

There is no great harm in eating raw starch. However, the appetite for raw starch is somewhat unnatural.

Is your child getting a well-balanced diet?

Is he finicky?

TO THE BOY.

Happy, independent, free,

Sturdy, firm,

Willing, cheerful, brave of heart,

Clear of thought, but not too smart.

Play the game and play to win,

Son of mine,

When you battle drag you in,

When your best will hardly do,

Don't let shame get hold of you.

Keep your head in pleasure's hour,

Son of mine,

These are needed for the flower:

Rain and shine.

Many a plant which might have bloomed

Was by too much sunshine doomed.

Live your life as best you can,

Son of mine;

Play the friend and play the man,

Care and pleasure you will meet,

But in either never cheat.

Take the loss and take the gain,

Son of mine,

With the wisdom to remain

Free from sign

Of the coward mind which shows

How it magnifies its woes

Be you clean and be you fair,

Son of mine;

Never shrink what is your share,

Straight as mine,

Face whatever comes, erect,

And you'll win all men's respect.

Marie Wants to Be Helpful

Mitzi is paying so little attention to the company she's in that Marie is worried. Is she mad? Not at all, the Goofers assure her, being used to this sort of conduct from Mitzi. Mitzi is merely looking at the new spring costumes. The coats with capes—the one to the left with two capes, the next one with a lopsided cape and the one to the right, that combines these points by having a cape both double and lopsided. The hats, too. The one to the left is felt with circ bands across it, the next of ballnetting; the third of so it straw with medallions of the straw on a silk band all round it like a bandana. There are certainly a number of things to distract Mitzi's attention!

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Resources.

MY HUSBAND says he wishes I had resources. What does he mean? He seems to be awfully snappy to me when he comes home, and if I want him to talk to me he gets just wild and says he wishes I had some resources. He is in the insurance business and I know he is very tired sometimes. But so are other husbands—yet they don't bite the heads off their wives for desiring a little conversation of an evening. I would be only too glad to do anything he wished. We have a lovely home, car, etc., but not so many friends, for he says he sees people all day long, and can't stand more people at night. Now I do not know what he means by having resources. What does he mean?

This letter, word for word as the wife wrote it, might have been written by a man who is tired of his wife, whose lives are bound up in one interest and one thought. To each of them the world revolves about one man, and that one man's homecoming each night marks the completion of a full day.

But to the many, evening and hours at home quite often are an interlude and nothing more. Unfinished work, uncompleted plans await the morrow. Wearied and seeking repose, it is not strange that irritation results when homecoming is the signal for all sorts of demands. To the woman this seems cruel. But why should not a woman have other sources of interest than the tired husband who comes home to rest?

This wife asks what her husband means by "resources." He means other interests than himself. A man recently wrote me that he felt he would do anything to make his wife contented. "What's new?" he inquired. He had become to him a thing of dread. Yet the wife was unaware of his violent reaction. So each night she asked brightly, "What's new?" and incited her lord to fury! She is no doubt doing it still. And probably will until he dies, after which event there will never be anything new again.

Resources! How lost the human who knows not the meaning of the word! Mental dependence! How helpless the victims of their friction!

In a world full of interests and hobbies how terrible to be a dead weight fastened on another mind. Yet that is just what any wife becomes when her interests have narrowed down to one thought. And that is what this husband is trying to say.

Can you blame him?

SCIENTISTS HONORED WITH FOUR MEDALS FOR WORK IN YEAR

Drs. W. H. Wright, C. V. Chapin, J. P. Smith and V. W. Ekman Get High Awards.

Four medals for distinction in fields of scientific research were awarded last night at the annual banquet of the National Academy of Sciences, which terminated the second day of the organization's meetings here. The sessions will end officially tonight with a lecture on music by Dr. C. E. Seshore. Subjects ranging from the origin of man discussed by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, of the Smithsonian Institution, to the diseases of rabies, lectured upon by Dr. J. C. Walker, of the University of Wisconsin, characterized the gatherings yesterday.

The medals were presented at the end of a busy day to four men whose achievements have been heralded throughout the world. The Marcellus Hartley medal for "contributions to public health and his work in administrative control of disease" was given to Dr. Charles V. Chapin, of the Health Department of Providence, R. I.

In addition to the medal itself, Dr. Chapin, under the rules of the academy, is accorded the honor of being "notified, like members, of the meetings of the academy, and invited to participate in its scientific sessions."

Holders of the public welfare award, it was explained, always have this distinction conferred upon them, the prestige of such priority being highly esteemed due to the strictly limited membership of the academy.

Dr. William Hammond Wright, of Lick Observatory, received the Henry Draper medal for original investigations in astronomical physics. At Monday evening's session of the academy Dr. Wright described to members the starting results obtained by utilizing varicolored lights in photographing planets, and exhibited snapshots of Mars and other heavenly bodies made with red, yellow, violet, green and ultraviolet lights.

Some of the colors brought out conspicuously the details of the planets, while others blurred the surface or failed to etch the outlines with anything resembling clarity.

Dr. Mary Clark Thompson medal and a $250 honorarium for his achievements in the paleontology of the Triassic period were awarded to Dr. James Perrin Smith, of Stanford University.

Dr. Smith's researches were regarded by the academy as the "most important service to geology and paleontology" during the past year. His investigations covered the entire Triassic era, the earliest division of the Mesozoic epoch, or the Age of Reptiles, and resulted in important scientific disclosures, it was stated.

Man's Ancestry Discussed.

Dr. V. Walfrid Ekman, of the University of Lund, Sweden, was the recipient of the Agassiz medal for his achievements in physical oceanography. For years Dr. Ekman has been considered one of the outstanding authorities of the world on this subject, it was said.

Since the meetings opened a number of prominent scientists have appeared before the academy and discussed at length topics of enormous scientific value. May of the addresses abounded

Virginia County Presents Case in Annexation Suit

Arlington Health and Educational Facilities Contrasted with Conditions in Alexandria As Shown By Statistics—Gloth Back on Job.

Educational and health facilities of Arlington County contrasted with those of Alexandria, and evidence designed to show that county subdivisions were not "haphazardly" planned, occupied Arlington's first full day of testimony against Alexandria's annexation proposal yesterday in the Arlington County Court.

The day marked Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth's first active participation in the case since the chief of counsel for the defense was shot by his divorced wife nearly two months ago. Gloth directly examined one of the county's witnesses, and showed much of his former fire in vigorously objecting to points raised by the plaintiffs as the case progressed.

Witnesses yesterday were rapidly dispatched, Alexandria consuming little time in cross-examination. "There was a surprise witness in the person of Arthur Wilson James, director of the bureau of county and city organization of the State Department of Public Welfare. James ranked Arlington County's health unit with the four best in the State.

Evidence given by W. F. Swendeman, landscape architect, and former designer for the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks of this city. Swendeman told the court that 375 acres of land remain unoccupied in Alexandria, and of this territory, 175 acres is well suited to industrial purposes. He said in technicalities unintelligible to the layman.

At yesterday's meetings possibly the most interesting display of scientific acumen resulted from the animated discussion resulting from remarks by Dr. James W. Gidley and Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, both of the Smithsonian Institution; Dr. David White, of the United States Geological Survey, and Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, of the New York Museum of Natural History, on discoveries relating to the ancestry of man in the tertiary geological period.

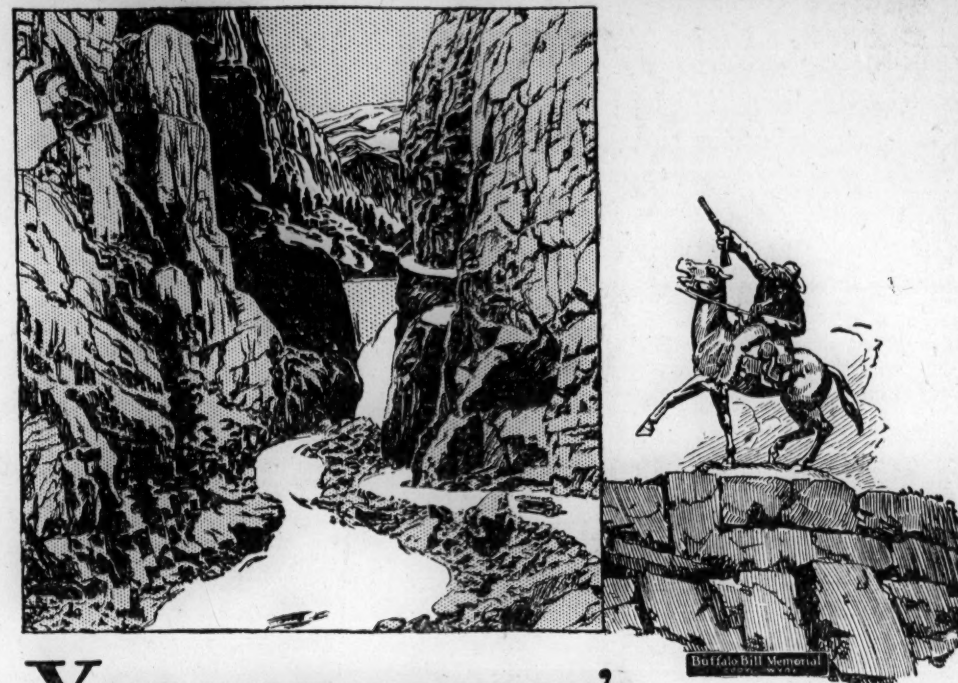

Among the interesting statements made before the academy was that of Dr. J. H. Muller, of the University of Texas, who pointed out new evidence of the effects of X-rays in changing the hereditary characteristics of fruit flies. All evolution may be the result of stray rays of powerful light rays, according to this theory.

Dr. Muller was awarded the annual $1,000 prize of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at the December meeting of that organization, when announcement was first made of his achievement in establishing new races of fruit flies by subjecting the genes and chromosomes of normal parent stock to X-radiation.

Dr. Muller's appearance yesterday before the National Academy was by invitation. Dr. Muller, according to his statement, has probably determined that the mutations brought about by X-ray treatment are not only stable, continuing as inherited characteristics of the new species, but that they are not the result of the knocking of genes, the heredity carrying units, out of the chromosomes in which they are combined.

Dr. Muller and his associate, Dr. Edgar Altenburg, have established that the chromosomes themselves may be broken, and that a resulting fragment will adhere to a different chromosome having like genes, which causes what was described as "line mutation" in the progeny.

District Market Narrower.

Riggs National Bank and Washington Gas Light shares furnished the high spots in yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange in a market that was marked by a decrease in the volume of turnover as well as in the breadth of activity.

Riggs National Bank, which sold on Monday at $11, came out with an overnight gain of 4 points and 45 shares changed hands in two lots at $15, a new high mark for 1928, and making this the highest national bank stock on the list and even with National Savings & Trust Co., which last sold at $15, and until now has led the field.

Washington Gas Light continued upward and starting at $2½, moved up to $2½ on sales of three small lots. Closing bid was $2, with asked at $2½.

The stock is still quoted ex-dividend. Potomac Electric Power 5½ per cent preferred picked up a fraction with two lots selling at 108½. Mergenthaler Linotype gained to 102. Columbia Gas & Electric preferred sold at par, while Commercial National Co. preferred moved in an odd lot at 106.

On the bond side Capital Trust was sold at 104 and 103½; Anacostia &

Potomac R. R. 5s sold at 100, while Washington Railway & Electric 4s advanced to 93½.

New Cities Service Issue.

A new issue of $50,000,000 Cities Service Co. 5 per cent gold debentures is offered today by a syndicate headed by Harris, Forbes & Co. and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and including the National City Co., Bonbright & Co., E. H. Rollins & Sons, A. B. Leach & Co., Inc., Federal Securities Corporation, Fidelity Trust Co., and Henry L. Doherty & Co. The debentures are priced at 98 in yield 5.13 per cent.

The entire proceeds derived from the sale of this issue, due in 1938, will be applied to the retirement of the funded debt of the company and for the retirement or acquisition of funded debt or preferred stocks of subsidiaries, thereby effecting a substantial saving in interest and dividend payments.

After giving effect to this financing and the recent offer of additional common stock, the consolidated capitalization of the company and subsidiaries as of December 31, 1927, shows outstanding funded debt, preferred stocks and minority common stocks of subsidiaries amounting to $32,406,179; $2,200,000 equipment trust certificates, and $71,614,358 funded debt of the company, which will be followed by preferred and common stocks with an aggregate market value based on current quotations of more than $375,000,000.

The consolidated balance sheet as of the same date, after giving effect to the financing mentioned above, shows total net current assets over $70,000,000, and total net assets after deductions other than funded debt of over $200,000,000, or more than 400 per cent of such funded debt. Consolidated net earnings of the Cities Service Co. are more than 2½ times total annual charges.

Riggs Bank to Build.

Looking toward the future growth of the branch at Fourteenth street and Park road northwest, the Riggs National Bank will today start work on the building of a three-story office structure on the site of the Postoffice at 1413 Park road, the old building being the property of the bank acquired when the Hamilton Bank was taken over by the Riggs National. The building will conform architecturally with the present handsome branch building and will be tied in to the present quarters at the third floor, leaving an area between the buildings up to that floor for lighting purposes. Charles H. Tompkins & Co. are the builders and George N. Ray the architect.

The Postoffice, which is temporarily located in a Park road store in the Riggs Bank building, has taken a ten-year lease on the first floor of the new building, the lease to begin on December 31, 1928.

the total Washington attack. In fact Pennock was so effective that he fanned three, walked none, and only six balls, including hits, were driven out of the infield.

Yankees score two runs, while he y in trouble on other occasions, althou
he managed to escape except wh
Ruth came through with his circ clouts.

These gave the Babe a total of three for the young season, one more than to his credited "Twins" Gehrig.

All told, Lisenbee granted only seven hits, of which Lazzari got two as well as Ruth. One of Tony's was a double which was not used, in the eighth. His single, however, drove in two runs in the first inning.

Clever catches by Coombs and Go lin raced back to the stands in to fasten himself on the end of Orlins' drive in the sixth which was called "extra bases."

The Yankees were 3 runs up when the third round was completed, having molded these tallies and with the aid of but two hits. Lisenbee was as good as a March hare at the start and filled the bases with only one out, by walking Coombs and Ruth and carrying. It looked as though he might pull out of the hole when Ruel came under Meusel's high foul, but Lazear came through with a liner to center which, in view of Goslin's inability to throw, let two runs score. Dugan then lofted to Rice for the third out.

Meusel doubled later in this session but the blow helped nothing.

Meanwhile, Pennock had been fighting the Nats to eat out of his hand. With one down in the first, he singled between third and short, was stranded at first and the southpaw ace did not let another reach first until Lisenbee doubled one out in the sixth.

the fourth was Collins, who benefited from an error on Bluege's part. Lube then retired the side in order and ran into more trouble in round 5 with a fine peg by Rice helping him out.

After Ruth walked, Gehrig singled right, Rice's fine throw catching Babe at third. Gehrig took second on the throw-in and Meusel coasted, but both were stranded. Lazzeri lofted to Goslin and Durocher popped to Ruel.

managed to get a man as far second base. With one out, Rosen misjudged Lisenbee's liner and sailed over his head for two bases.

"Lizzie" advanced a base on knicker roller to Gehrig, but remained third, watching Harris fly Meusel.

The Yanks were sent back to bench in order in their half. Pennock gave the Nats a dose of same medicine in the seventh.

DR. WHITE TO DISCUSS MINDS OF CHILDREN

Address by Radio Will Be Made Over Station WMAL at 8:30 o'clock Tonight.

"NORMA" ALSO ON AIR

There will be a discussion which should interest parents when Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeths Hospital, tells of the "Mental Habits of Children" over Station WMAL at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Following this, an hour later, "Un Chaud Jour," a musical farce presented by the Players' Guild in the ballroom of the City Club will be broadcast by the same station.

Vincenzo Bellini's "Norma" will be the opera given by the National Grand Opera ensemble under the direction of Cesare Soderio in tabloid form through WRC at 10:30 o'clock tonight. This opera, which is being given by the National Grand Opera ensemble for the first time, was produced in Milan in 1851. Its first New York production took place at the Academy of Music in 1854. Later it was heard in the Metropolitan Opera House in 1901. The story is laid in Gaul about 50 B.C.

Elizabeth Winston, pianist, will play in the Kitt hour of music to be heard at 7 o'clock tonight. Frederic William Wile, who keeps in touch with the political situation in Washington, will be heard this evening at 7:45 o'clock over WRC.

Other features to be heard on the program are: Waldorf-Astoria Orchestra, baseball and basketball scores and the Silvertown Orchestra. Representative Heartill Rogon, of Arkansas, will speak over Station WTTA at 8:30 o'clock. This will be followed by "Chick" Godfrey, the "singing Leatherneck."

There will be an unusual array of talent during the Variety hour from WJZ, WBAL and KDKA at 9 o'clock tonight. This will include Joe Green and his marimba band, May Robinson, soprano soloist, John Oakley, bass, and George O'Brien, tenor.

The march from Ruff's symphony, "Leonore," descriptive of the passing troupes and the parting of lovers, will be played at the opening number of the hour of slumber music which will be broadcast by WJZ, of New York, and WJR, of Detroit, at 11 o'clock tonight.

Potomac Palisades Home Celebration

An American home celebration day will be held at St. David's Chapel under the auspices of the Potomac Palisades section of the Better Homes in America Organization. The Conduit Road Citizens Association, the Potomac Village Citizens Association, the Reservoir Parent-Teacher Association, and the Palisades Garden and Landscape Club will cooperate in making the program possible. Mrs. E. W. Burr will have charge of the celebration. Charles Elliot and Miss Clara Herbert will speak at the chapel. Miss Priscilla Lane will render some cello solos.

Ad Club Addressed By Philadelphian

Karl Bloomingdale, of the Bloomingdale-Weiler Advertising Agency of Philadelphia, addressed members of the Washington Advertising Club yesterday at a luncheon in Harvey's restaurant. Eleventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, on problems of the advertising business. Ray McCredie presided as master of ceremonies. Entertainment was furnished by Jimmy Rodgers, banjoist, and 11-year-old George Espina Bentley, soprano, who was accompanied on the piano by his mother.

Luncheon to Covell Will Be Held May 3

A change was made yesterday in the date and place of the farewell luncheon to be tendered by District Building officials and employees to Maj. W. E. R. Covell, retiring assistant to the Engineer Commissioner. The luncheon will be held at the Willard Hotel Thursday, May 3, at 12:30 p.m. It was originally planned to hold the affair Saturday, May 5, at the Carlton Hotel. The date had to be changed because so many friends of Maj. Covell wished to attend who had other engagements May 5. The Carlton Hotel could not accommodate the party May 3, hence the change to the Willard Hotel.

District Memorial Location Approved

Location of the District of Columbia World War Memorial to be erected in West Potomac Park may proceed under supervision of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Park, the Commission of Fine Arts, having announced yesterday that its location in a grove of trees just west of John Paul Jones statue near Tidal Basin may proceed as a unit unrelated to the road and general development plan of the park. Commission members have inspected the site of the memorial which will be a white marble pavilion of Grecian style with dome roof supported by pillars.

Suitors Who Lost Sues In Vain for Expenses

Fredericksburg, Va., April 24 (A.P.). — R. Lind, who for three years made trips from Ohio to Virginia as a suitor for the hand of Miss Fannie Beasley of Spottsylvania, today lost the opportunity to recover expenses incidental to an unsuccessful courtship.

A judgment for $456.94, expenses listed by Lind, was granted by the Spottsylvania Circuit Court to Lind's wife, Mrs. Fannie Beasley, who is now the bride of her husband. Lind did not contest the suit, but when Lind attempted to collect by garnishment proceedings, Mrs. Beasley's attorney, Mr. J. H. Erick Coleman, threw the case out of court.

Seeking Means to Cut Down Freight Losses

Charlotte, N. C., April 24 (A.P.)—Attempts to devise ways and means of preventing damage to freight shipments and of expediting the amicable settlement of such claims as may be presented by shippers to railroads and steamship lines were inaugurated here today with the opening of the Southern Claims Conference.

Approximately 75 claim agents, representing Southern railway and steamship lines, were present when W. C. Moore, of Portsmouth, Va., called the meeting to order. Today's session was opened with a warning that shippers might work out problems to be presented to the general conference.

Train Kills Driver And Mother-in-Law

Norfolk, Va., April 24 (A.P.)—W. W. Forehand, of Norfolk County, and Mrs. W. D. Wellons, his mother-in-law, were killed today when their truck was struck by a Norfolk and Western train at Deep River.

Witnesses said a bell, erected as a warning signal, was ringing but that Forehand probably did not hear it, due to noise made by a train from Richmond, which had just passed.

Annapolis and members of the Order of B. M. O. E. were attending a convention of the order today. They were on the train which struck the truck.

The victims were Mrs. Wellons, 42, of Chadwick, grand matron of the local lodge, and Mrs. Forehand, 39, of Dilleucht.

TEAR BOMBS REPEL BESIEGING POLICE

Second Precinct were informed that a man was killing his wife at the N street address. Officer C. E. Horsley and Officer J. Hughes were dispatched to the scene. As they neared the house they heard the roar of the shotgun. The man fled from the front and back windows.

With their pistols in their hands the officers rushed to the rear window on the second floor and Kinsey appeared on the third floor landing. He warned them to go back home. He threatened them and would "blow the head off any one who comes up the stairs."

The policemen began to climb to the second floor. Kinsey ran away with the shotgun, police said. The shots tore pieces of plaster off the wall and Kinsey ran back to the rear porch to retreat, firing two shots at Kinsey's feet. The bullets lodged in the landing but he was escaping on.

When the neighborhood was thrown into turmoil by the shots and police were forced to warn spectators to seek cover, Kinsey ran back to the front porch to the crowd. He was alone on the third floor with his wife. He did not explain to the men when he was taken to the precinct.

COLONIAL BEAUTIES MARK 'HOMESTEAD' AT POST EXHIBITION

Crowds Continue to Inspect
Six Houses Furnished by Leading Merchants.

ALL TO REMAIN OPEN UNTIL SUNDAY NIGHT

Every Display, Arranged Under
Experts, Is Profitable
Lesson in Itself.

Crowds continued yesterday to visit the six houses forming the "Home Beautiful" exhibit, sponsored by The Washington Post in cooperation with leading merchants and leading merchants of Washington. The houses are open for public inspection each day this week through Sunday between the hours of 10 a. m. and 6 p. m.

The houses vary in price from $47,500 to $12,950 and each is furnished on a budget in keeping with the cost of the house itself. But, the same taste is employed in the furnishing of each home, and it is hard to sense the difference between the most costly and the least costly of the six homes, each being so well decorated and furnished.

One of the most interesting houses ever built in Washington for exhibition purposes is "The Old Homestead," located 4435 Garfield street, Wesley Heights. It is valued at $42,500 and was designed, built and loaned for The Post exhibit by W. C. & A. N. Miller.

It has been completely furnished from the stocks of Dulin & Martin under supervision of this firm's interior decorating department, and is a gem of domestic beauty and comfort.

The house is in a typically Colonial period, but the improvements in utilities of the present day have been added to meet the requirements of home life in this age.

When one alights from his automobile he reaches the house over a winding flagstone walk and over an arched bridge which spans a stream which flows naturally from a spring in the front yard. This spring is covered with a quaint top of weathered shingles.

Porch Is Pleasing Feature.

The porch of the home is perhaps one of the most pleasing features, with its canopy supported by massive square pillars copied from the days of early American architecture.

Entrance to the house is from this porch into a reception hall; to the left is the large living room with rough-hewn timbered ceiling and an open brick fireplace. The entire back wall is paneled in weathered pine, with built-in cupboards. Beyond is the dining room with artistically paneled walls.

The amply large kitchen and butler's pantry are also on this floor.

Half way up the stairs, which lead to the second floor, is the library which has been built over the garage. The floor in this room is of flagging. The walls are lined with open bookshelves which have been filled with books from the Skylark Book Shop. An enormous fireplace at one end of the room invites comfort.

On the second floor one finds four spacious bedrooms and two tiled baths, which bespeak the modern, but in no way detract from the thought which has been carried out in the early farm type of home.

Dulin & Martin have selected furnishings entirely appropriate to each room, in period desirable to a house not only of this type but in relation to its cost.

Worth Afternoon Study.

It is worth planning a whole afternoon for a visit to this home alone that no detail of thoughtful building or carefully planned furnishing will be overlooked.

A visit to the other houses forming the exhibit, opens up a new world to you. Large crowds were visiting each of them, and that the visitors were pleased beyond words with the taste shown in selection and arrangement of the furnishings.

These houses have been furnished under the supervision of Mrs. R. H. Thomas, of Richmond, Va., a nationally known home-furnishing expert. They are located in the most desirable residential sections of Washington and its suburbs. The houses are open each night and the crowds are larger each day as the exhibit grows older. This hint is given to ask you to come early if you want to see the houses.

NEW ACCOUNTS SYSTEM ADOPTED BY CITY HEADS

Card Index Will Keep Data on Supplies More Closely Than at Present.

SEWER CONTRACTS LET

A complete new system of accounting for property and supplies was adopted by the Commissioners yesterday to be installed June 1 in every branch of the District government, except the public school system, for which a special property system will be devised later.

The system was devised by A. G. Thomas and V. P. Simmons, of the Bureau of Efficiency, was reviewed by Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, and all department heads of the municipality, and was modified to some extent by the bureau men after reading the comment of the department heads.

Provision is made for a property accounting division in the auditor's office, and a property officer in each department of the local government. The property officers are required to keep card records of all supplies and materials and issue them only on receipted quotations. Central records are to be kept in the property accounting division. Annual physical inventory of all property is to be made with more frequent inventory of the supplies more commonly used to keep stores from being depleted without purchases.

The Commissioners awarded contracts for sewer sewer projects, totaling more than $26,000 in the Northwest section of the city, to the G. B. Mullin Co., as follows:

East Reno sewer in the vicinity of Connecticut avenue and Chesapeake street, $11,597.26; Wesley Heights combined sewer system in the vicinity of Forty-third and Garfield streets, $4,855.00; replacement sewer in the vicinity of Twelfth and P streets, $3,830.00; sewer in the vicinity of Forty-second street between Military road and Livingston street, $2,050.37; at Reno road and Winwood place, $1,704.96; Georgia boulevard, Alaska avenue and the District line, $1,612.75; and Military road between Nevada and Nebraska avenues, $1,443.00.

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of the schools, emphasized the necessity of carrying on summer round-up work by the teachers in an effort to have all children in fine physical and mental condition when they begin school. Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty greeted the congress.

Dr. Fred A. Moss, professor of psychology at George Washington University, submitted a paper on "The morning session to an intelligence test. Dr. Moss stated they made a better record than 52 professors at George Washington University.

Among his questions were: "At what age could a child tell without counting, the number of fingers he had; at what age could a child tell without studying the problem, what time it would be if the hands of a clock pointed, at 6:10 were to be reversed; if a child of 7 should be able to answer these questions."

Those assisting Mr. Franklin on the flower committee are Albert A. Stern, Charles F. Bishop, Glenn King and William Comfort.
